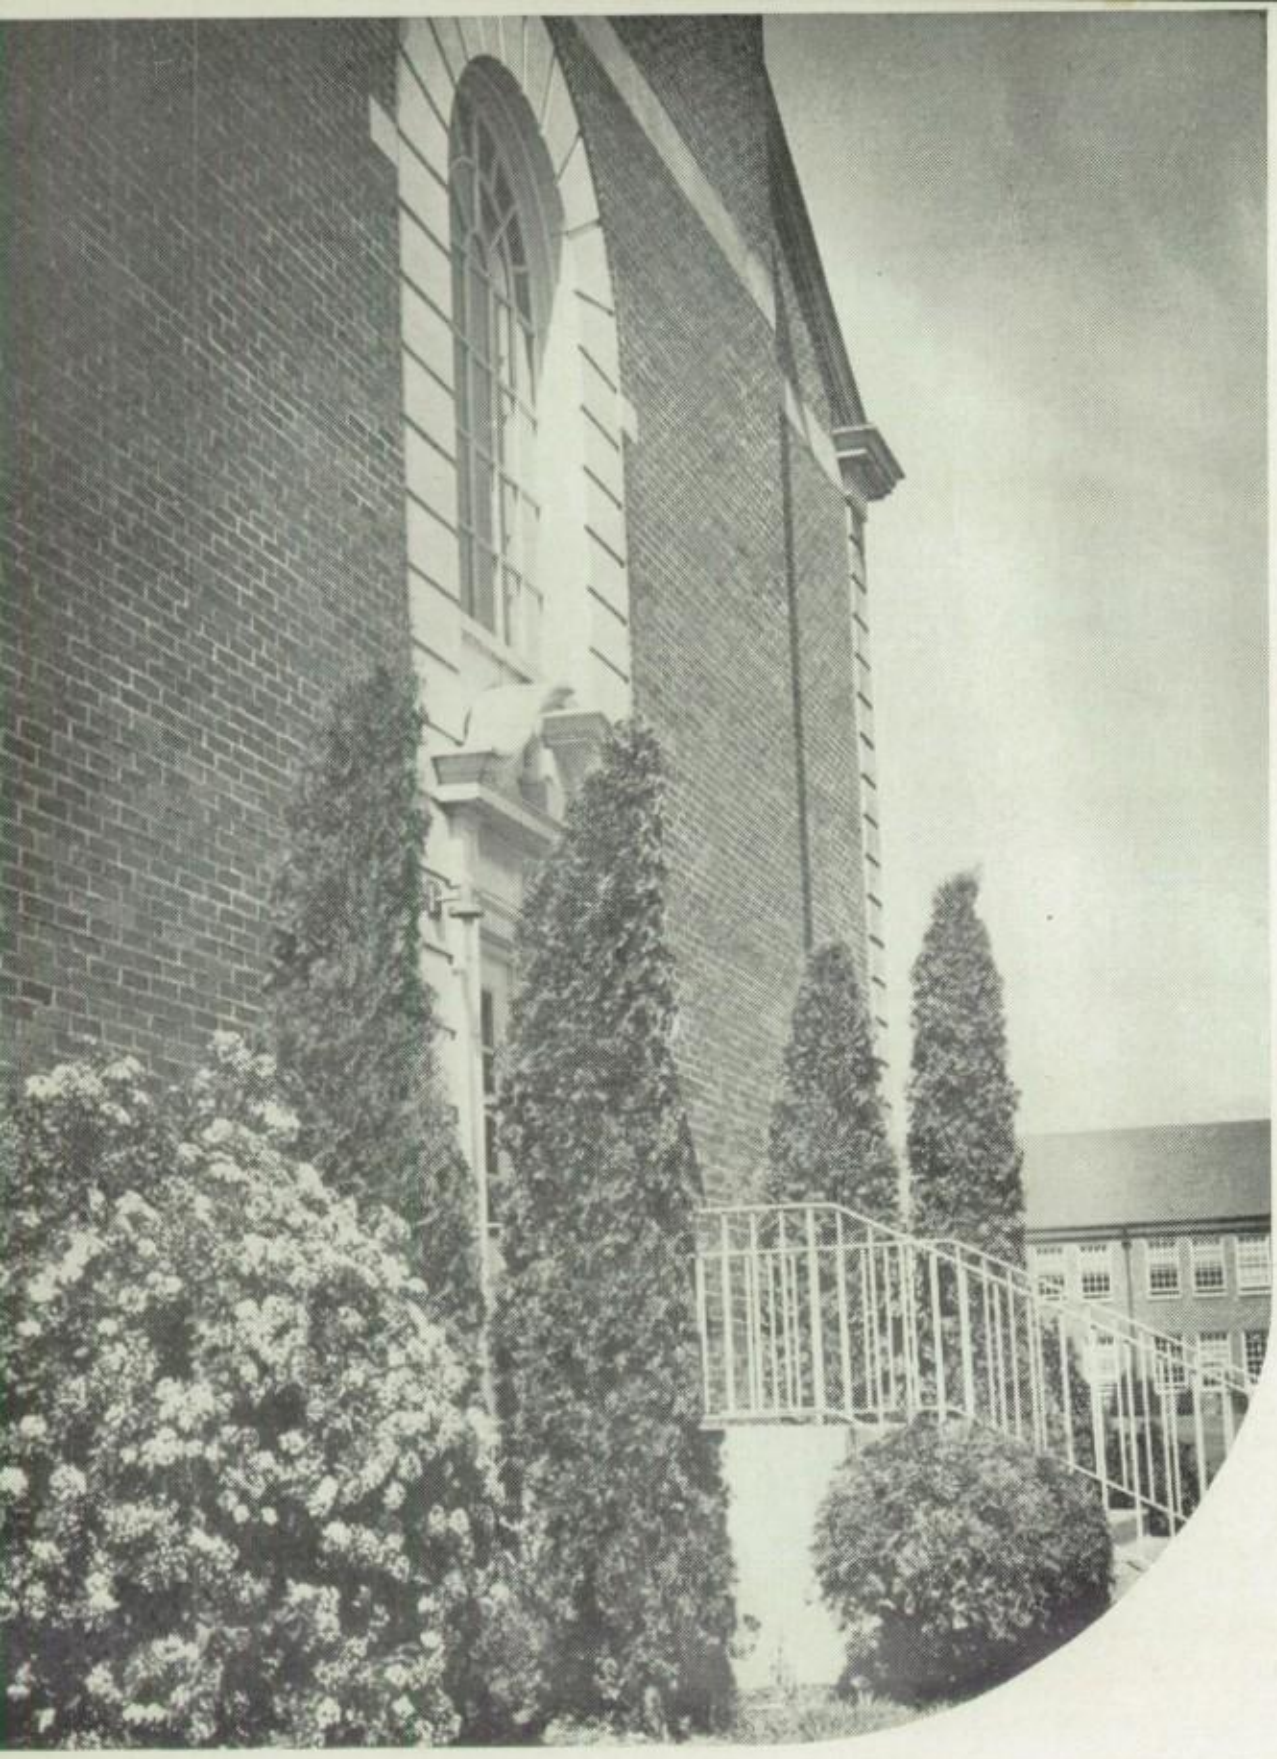
FOREWORD

As war came to America, it came to the high schools throughout our country. Many persons from Salem High are already serving in various ways for our defense, both military and civilian, and many more will undoubtedly serve before the war is over. We have had separate club projects and all-school projects for the furthering of the war effort this year, and we therefore feel it fitting and proper that the theme of this, the 1943 Clarion Annual, be "Salem High and the war."

DEDICATION

Many Salem High students, alumni, and members of the faculty have joined the armed forces and are now fighting for our country. These men have brought honor to our school and are well worthy of our pride in them. To all of them, wherever they may be, this edition of the Clarion Annual is gratefully dedicated.



IN MEMORIAM

HAROLD STETTLER

Class of '43

ADMINISTRATION

With increased classes, extra work on rationing boards, and clubs' war projects, our administration has entered wholeheartedly into war work with never a complaint and has given the support and encouragement needed by all in our school.

School Board

Behind all the wartime training in Salem High and the other Salem schools is this group, the school board of district No. 24. Sensitive to the requirements of the wartime emergency, they have seen to it that graduates of the Salem school system will be on par with youth anywhere.

Chairman of the board is Mr. Roy Harland. The business manager is Mr. Connell Ward. Other members are Mrs. David Wright, Mr. Donald A. Young, Mr. L. E. Barrick, Mr. Ralph Campbell.

Superintendent

One of Oregon's leading educators, Mr. Frank B .Bennett, has been superintendent of Salem schools for four years. Under his leadership the Salem schools have turned from peacetime training to war training to meet the emergency. Besides finding teachers, adjusting the curriculum, and keeping the school system running smoothly, Mr. Bennett has found time to give many talks on education and the war effort.

FRED D. WOLF

EDMUND A. CARLETON

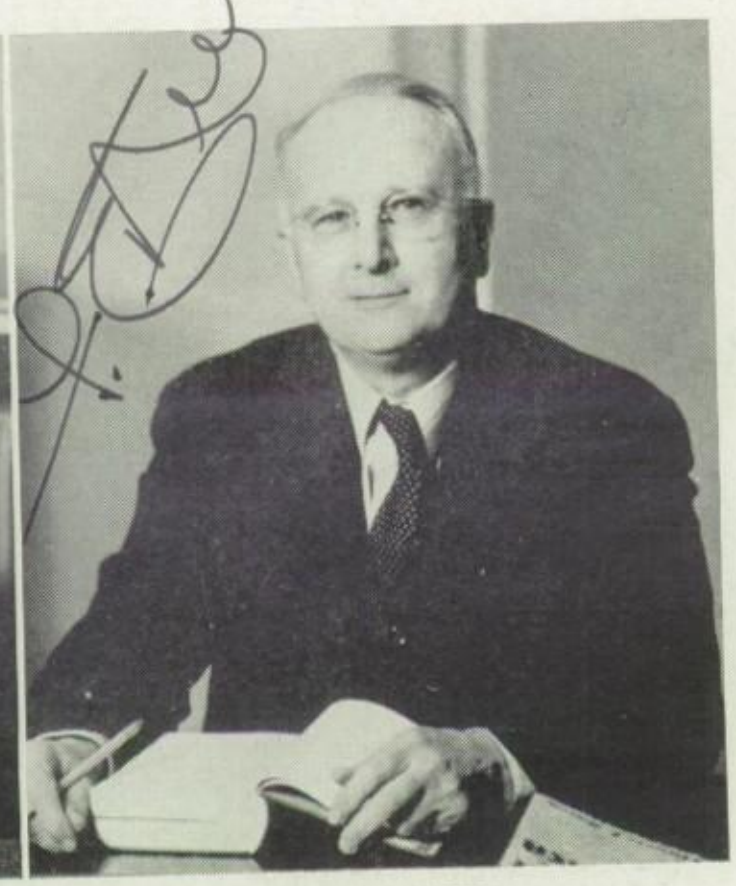
Principal

As principal of one of Oregon's largest high schools, Mr. Fred D. Wolf has carried out many extra responsibiilties and duties to meet the demands of all war effort. Under his leadership Salem High adopted the Victory Corps program and adjusted every phase of its activities to meet the emergency.

Vice Principal

Adjusting the programs of the students and clubs was a big job this year. The brunt of this fell upon Mr. Edmund Carleton, our vice principal. As always he took the extra work in his stride and did an excellent job.

MABEL P. ROBERTSON



FRANK E. NEER

Dean of Girls

Miss Mabel P. Robertson has long been known to Salem High students as a friend and counselor of any and every girl in school. During the past year she has found numerous ways for the girls to fit into the war effort, besides helping the student body have a fuller social program.

Dean of Boys

Dean of Boys, Mr. Frank Neer found numerous places for boys to help win the war at home during the school year. His biggest job, however, was keeping boys in Salem High until they finished their course so they might fit better into wartime army life and post war civilian life.

Office Staff

Needless to say, the increased activities in Salem High have made a great deal of extra work for the office force. Among other things they changed everyone's program to fit into the Victory Corps program. Throughout the year they have been kept busy aiding the armed forces by sending them the records of Salem graduates in the service. Members of the office force are Mr. James Nelson, registrar; Miss Myrtle McClay; and Mrs. Bertha Finch.

Cafeteria Staff

Headed by well known "Pop "Crary, the cafeteria staff has fed the Salem High students well in spite of high prices, rationing, and increased appetite from daily gym classes. Ably assisting "Pop" in the tremendous task of keeping the student body healthy are Mrs. Marie Jackson; Mrs. Eva Arnett; Mrs. Pauline Wilson; and Bernard Phillips, apprentice.

Custodians

Everything in Salem High has been affected by the war. The engineer has heated the building on thirty-five per cent less fuel. The custodians have been faced with shortages of cleaning materials. But in spite of rationing and shortages, each one has done his job well.

teach new courses and train students to fit into the war effort, but they also have given freely of their time to aid in rationing and various other war programs.

ASB

A. S. B. Council

Through this year of war and uncertainty, the student council has been faced with problems of making every student body activity have a part in the war program and making the year memorable socially for those who will soon be in the armed forces. That the council has succeeded is shown in the number of dances and in the participation of clubs in various war projects.

Officers of the council are as follows:

Frank Bennett .....President
Mary East .....Vice president
Bernice Bowersox.....Secretary
Henry Johnson.....Forensic mgr.
Hugh Lovell ....Sergeant at arms

CLASSES

A noticeable change has come over the classes of Salem High. With a more determined spirit each individual has knuckled down with an honest effort to do his part in the Victory Program.

SENIORS

Senior Class

Breaking a Salem High tradition, the senior class of '43 voted to wear caps and gowns for graduation this year as a wartime economy measure. The class had a full year of social activities, starting with a movie, "The Gladiator," shown on November 19. A dinner was held December 4, just before the sport dance which had as its theme "Holiday Inn." Bringing forth the latent abilities of many seniors was the well received talent program on January 14 with Bill Burns acting as able master of ceremonies. An April Fool party brought out a large crowd of seniors to try their luck at various games and dancing. The senior class banquet held in the spring topped off a well rounded social program for the year.

The class of '43 had a successful year under its capable leaders. Louis Hough was an excellent president; Sharon Burnett did a good job as vice president; Pat Fish kept a true report of class activities as secretary; Beverly McGilchrist guarded the class funds as treasurer; Gordy McMorris did a great job as a muscular sergeant at arms; Pat DeSart successfully lead the songs, and Bill Smith, the yells; Fritz Anunson made a worthy forensic manager; Fritz Deckebach, Landy Franz, and Katie Griffith gave the senior class opinions on the A. S. B. council.

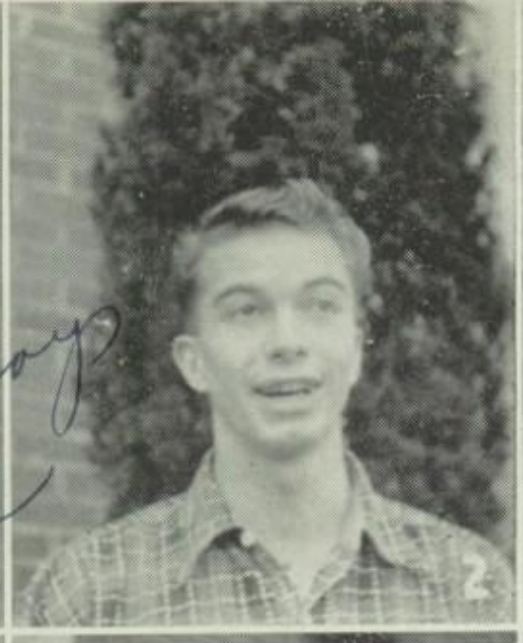
Outstanding



1. In addition to performing her work as Clarion manager, Jean Rowland served as Salem High's Victory Girl and was co-writer of the script for the Civics Club Carnival.

2. Frank Bennett has proved himself a capable A. S. B. president. In his "spare" time he helped fellow Stagecraft boys with school productions.

3. Girls League has been headed this year by Janet Rogers. She was vice president of the class when a sophomore, co-writer of the Carnival script as a senior, and active in girls' sports.

4. Balancing books and selling A. S. B. tickets were jobs that came to Henry Johnson as A. S. B. forensic manager. Henry was also a member of Civics Club and Stagecraft.

5. Nancy Brown has had scarcely a moment's pause this year. Besides editing the Clarion, Nan was a Civics Club Carnival princess and co-valedictorian of her class.

6. Musician and athlete all in one—as a member of the band and the basketball team, Courtney Jones managed to keep occupied.

7. Here's a mighty busy gal. Lois Barrick has served as vice president of Girls' League and as a member of Snikpoh, Civics Club, and Crescendo. She was chosen as Salem's D. A. R. candidate.

8. Jim Purdy, active on the Clarion, Clarion Annual, in band and speech contests, has also found time to be president of Que Dice.

9. A peppy and pretty song queen—Shirley Parker served as Pep Club president and was elected an honorary member of Snikpoh.

Seniors

1. Beverly McGilchrist was ruler of all Salem High for a night, when she was chosen queen of the Civics Club Carnival. She has also been secretary of Civics Club and a member of National Honor Society.

2. Ah dreams! What would it be in Salem High without Pat Leary? Pat has appeared in and directed stage productions and has been president of Snikpoh this year. She was treasurer of the junior class last year.

3. Serving as Civics Club president is no small task, but one ably done by Bland Simmons. Bland made a fine Uncle Sam to the Carnival and was elected "Superman" at the Pep Club dance.

4. Mary East has really had experience as a vice president. She served in this capacity for the class in its junior year, for Snikpoh, and this year for the A. S. B.

5. Louie Hough is an all around athlete. He's been on this year's basketball, football, and golf teams in addition to being senior class president.

6. A pretty, as well as efficient A. S. B. secretary, Bernice Bowersox is also a member of Honor Society.

7. Remember the clown who made the Civics Club Carnival a riot? It was no other than Hugh Lovell, our A. S. B. sergeant at arms. Hugh is also an active member of Stagecraft.

8. This petite young lady is Pat Fish. She has proved herself a capable senior class secretary this year. In her junior year she reigned over the Civics Club Carnival as Queen Pat I.

JUNIORS

JUNIOR CLASS

During the past school year the junior class, under the leadership of its able president, Richard Page, carried out many activities. A few of these were a class movie, "Let's Go Collegiate" on November 5; a dance on November 13; and a dinner which preceded the basketball game with Astoria on February 5. The junior-senior prom was held May 29.

Officers of the class of '44 were as follows: Richard Page, president; Nancy Montgomery, vice president; Joan Remington, secretary; Betty Staab, treasurer; Norma Jean Newgent, song leader; Don Chapman, sergeant at arms; and Travis Cross, Wilfred Beard, and Martha Weller, A. S. B. council members.

1. Rosemary Gaiser is the number one piano player and accompanist of the junior class. She is a member of the band, orchestra, and Crescendo, all of which help her to display her talent.

2. Serving the junior class in the capacity of secretary, Joan Remington used those sterling qualities that made her a leader in Rainbow as well as in school affairs.

3. Martha Weller served enthusiastically this year as a member of one of the most important of Salem High's governing bodies, the A. S. B. council, and proved she can be depended on in any crisis.

4. As ppresident and one of the leading members of the junior class, Dick Page presided over all meetings and served as manager of the Jayvee basketball squad. Dick was also an invaluable reporter on the Clarion and Clarion Annual staffs.

5. Travis Cross is one who is well known to the student body. He was on the first string basketball team and was sports editor for the Clarion.

6. The most vivacious personality in school this year came forth, and how rightfully, in the person of our dashing yell king, Bob Skopil. Bob was also active in Hi-Y.

7. As assistant song queen of Salem High and therefore also serving as vice president of Pep Club, Joy Randall has become one of the junior class' most successful members.

8. Dick Taw is one of those rare individuals who has combined brains with brawn. He is on the track team, in the band, and Crescendo, and really got around in the Carnival, being in three skits.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

Due to the war and various shortages, the sophomore class wasn't able to have the dances and parties that everyone wanted. The officers and council members held several meetings and tried to make the necessary arrangements, but it was a hard thing to do. They did manage to work a few things in, however. A fine speech was given by Mr. Frank Bennett at a special sophomore class assembly, and a dance was sponsored by the class in March.

The class officers were Robert Bennett, president; Jane Acton, vice president; Jean Fidler, secretary; Robert Macy, treasurer; Don Scheeler, forensic manager; Dessa Lee Holmes and Robert Robins, A. S. B. council; Don Farnum, yell leader; and Jacqueline Torgerson, song leader.

The council members were Grace Ashford, Douglas Berwick, Jim Bradshaw, Patty Brown, Ruby Burnham, Carolyn Carson, Melvin Case, Beverly Davies, Shirley Dagenhardt, Edith Fairham, Wendell Hall, Lillian Hoffmann, Opal Howland, Shirley Lukins, Jim Monaco, Betty Manoles, Clinton Mason, and Darlene Pinneo.

ACTIVITIES

Perhaps our activities have been harder hit by the war than has the rest of our school life, but, in spite of fewer and less elaborate activities, all Salem High has gotten into the spirit of the remaining ones and has enjoyed and appreciated them more this year.

Twenty-five speakers, under Coach R. M. Murphy, won twenty-five awards in the seventy-two events at Linfield and Willamette.

Sixteen of these awards were won at Linfield. In oratory, Jane Huston and Nancy Brown received firsts; Nevitt Smith, Phyllis Graham, Jean Driggs, and Erma Wolverton, seconds. After-dinner awards went to John Brown, first; Bill Burns, second; Nevitt Smith, third. Placing in humorous readings were Bill Burns, first; Pat Leary, second. In serious readings, Alice Rose placed second; Jean Barham, third. In extemporaneous, John Brown was second. Alice Rose was third in radio. Jean Driggs received third in poetry.

Nine awards were received at Willamette. In oratory, Jane Huston was first; Phyllis Graham, third. For humorous readings Bill Burns won first; Pat Leary, second; Addyse Lane, third. Jean Barham placed first in serious reading; Alice Rose, third. Extemporaneous honors went to John Brown, second; Jim Purdy, third.

Band

Salem High's band, under the direction of Mr. Vernon Wiscarson, this year consisted of eighty-five members who were divided into two groups, bands A and B. The band has for the past two years been a first division winner in state contests. Another triumph this season was the final payment on the three thousand dollar set of uniforms purchased by the organization.

Serving as officers for A band were Courtney Jones, president; Janice Lemmon, vice president; Horace Beldin, point secretary; Betty Zo Allen, secretary; Richard Taw, librarian; DeLoris Lawrence, Wayne Struble, Jo Ann Palleske, Rosemary Gaiser, Stanford Hein, Jim Purdy, and Tomme Terrill, council members.

Officers for B band were Lawrence Baer, president; Glen Widdows, vice president; Dorothy Howard, secretary; and Jim Bradshaw, librarian.

The student directors were Rosemary Gaiser, Wayne Struble, and Albert Costello.

Orchestra

The orchestra was this year a complete symphony orchestra composed of fifty-two members. The highlight of their season was a concert given December 15, featuring Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" with Henri Arcand, concert pianist from Portland, as soloist. The orchestra played for assemblies, concerts, and the commencement exercises.

The officers were Albert Costello, president; Geraldine Schmoker, vice president and concert mistress; Rosemary Gaiser, secretary; Wayne Struble and Dean Allport, librarians. Their director was Mr. Vernon Wiscarson.

Snikpoh Play

Snikpoh's annual play, this year entitled, "Fireman Save My Child" or "She May Have Seen Better Days," was presented to the student body April 13 in the high school auditorium and proved to be a smash hit.

The cast of this one-act melodrama consisted of Barbara Alexander, the lily-white heroine; Bill Burns, the despicable villain; Lawrence Baer, the dashing hero; Lillian Oliver, Mrs. Julia Quingle; June Waggoner, Myrtle Jones (the maid); June Young, Mrs. Sally Crossbury, (the village gossip); Mary Parker, Mary Lawson (a bookkeeper); and Hugh Lovell, Bing Barnes (a funny fella).

The play was directed by Leonard Steinbock with the able assistance of Miss Lelia Johnson, adviser, and Pat Leary, president of Snikpoh.

The stage set was designed and constructed by the Stagecraft Club under the direction of Mrs. Gertrude Shisler, adviser.

Civics Club Carnival

Let's Laugh America was the theme of the annual Civics Club Carnival in which charming Beverly McGilchrist, Pep Club, was crowned Queen Beverly I by Bland Simmons as Uncle Sam. The original script was written and directed by Janet Rogers and Jean Rowland.

Attending the Queen were the Crown Princesses, Ruth Nelson, Science; Enid Broughton, Future Farmers. Other princesses of the Royal Court were Mary East, Radio; Jean Barham, Latin; Doris Boley, Home Economics; Priscilla Brennan, Spanish; Miriam Becke, Crescendo; Thelma Polzel, Nurses; Jean Newman, Social Science; Lizbeth Kennedy, German; Nancy Brown, Que Dice; Della Merk, Girls Letter Club; Harriet Hawkins, French; Pat Leary, Snikpoh; Edith Heise, Commercial; Frances Friesen, Jr. Crescendo; Vivian Bell, Future Craftsmen; and Carmen Campbell, Tri-Y.

The Science Club's skit, "Der Fuehrer's Face" took first place, closely followed by Crescendo and the Band. Skits were also presented by Social Science, Home Economics, and Snikpoh.

Frank Bennett's stage settings effectively brought out the patriotic motif which came to a stirring finale with the spotlight turned on Phyllis Ryan, as Goddess of Liberty, while the audience and cast joined in singing "Star Spangled Banner."

ANNUAL CALENDAR

Sept. 21. Hi! Here I am back again—definitely dragging around the edges, but nevertheless still around. And what a year I'm anticipating!

Oct. 3. We want a touchdown, we want a touchdown. That's right, and we got one too at the Salem vs. Oregon City football game here to-day. What a game! Rugged, tough, and oh, so sloppy.

Oct. 16. Whoops! First A. S. B. dance of the season and was it super! There was of course that old problem of a stag line, but who cares about a few extra stags during a man shortage like this——

Oct. 24. Yippee—Astoria is here for our football game. Need I say more? Unh, unh! Especially concerning the score.

Oct. 30. Goodness, what a shock! The A. S. B. held a Halloween drag to-night. Can't you just imagine some of the strange creations that passed for costumes? Awfully hard to recognize anyone, honestly. (Could that be why this little wall flower had such a stupendous time?)

Nov. 2. Whee!! Teachers Institute and what a vacation——

Nov. 3. Council day. My, what deep, dark discussions did go on.

Nov. 4. First club day of the year. Many clubs discussed the admittance of new members—poor initiates.

Nov. 5. Umm—Did our Alma Mater sponsor an up-to-the-minute movie to start off the season. The title was "Let's Go Collegiate" and our hep chicks really turned out.

Nov. 7. Salem vs. Milwaukie in football. Well—perhaps the game WASN'T too hot for us, but oh, boy, what broad shoulders those Milwaukians have.

Nov. 10. Today everyone was very solemn and almost dignified at our Armistice Day program. Things like this make us realize what we're fighting for at the present time.

Nov. 11. Salem vs. Eugene (football) and what a game! They did win, but my goodness, we can't win all the time. (How excruciatingly true.)

Nov. 13. A "Superstition Stomp" sponsored by the juniors was really a success this evening. You had to walk under a ladder to get in, and open umbrellas formed a false ceiling. Oh, woe!

Nov. 20. The Hi-Y boys formally announced their sweetheart at their annual dance to-night. Yummy, it was smooth—semi-formal and all dim lights and soft music. Perfect setting for their sweetheart, Janet Rogers.

Nov. 26. Thanksgiving vacation and what a reprieve!

ANNUAL CALENDAR

Dec. 2. In Girls League to-day the junior gals put forth noble effort in their production of "America Sings"—their contribution for the annual inter-class rivalry. Melodic? Yes!

Dec. 3. To-night Delbert Anderson, tenor, crooned soft, romantic lyrics to our eager ears at his Crescendo Concert in the auditorium. Even our jazz mongols softly swooned away.

Dec. 4. "Holiday Inn" was the fascinating theme for the senior class banquet and dance to-night. Oh, what food! Oh, what music! Oh, what absolute bliss!

Dec. 11. Start the presses! Let's roll—baby, what a scoop! Oops—sorry. Must be the after-effects of that screamingly hilarious Clarion party held in the gym to-night. Dancing, cards, games, positively everything—even men! Hey—let's have these more often.

Dec. 18. Imagine—another A. S. B. dance! It was our first A. S. B. semi-formal of the year, with decorations and program for a "White Christmas." A real orchestra too.

Dec. 24. Ouch! Drat those snowballs! Oh, well, it's vacation, so who can really mind?

Jan. 5. Home basketball game with Corvallis. Beautiful weather, isn't it? Lovely scenery? The score of the game? Oh, well, it really IS nice weather!

Jan. 22. Excitement at last. No school—we're snowed in. Can you imagine anything other than rain? But it's wonderful—the kids seem able to get everywhere but to school.

Jan. 27. Hey—we WON! (Basketball game with Dallas.)

Feb. 5 & 6. We're playing Astoria in Astoria. Oh, how I envy those few who got to go. All my fingers are crossed, but I've a feeling it won't help.

Feb. 12. Tri-Y broke down and gave a knock-down and drag-out dance (shall we call it?) to-night. The girls have become nervous wrecks this past week trying to decide who to take. Lucky guys who were asked.

Feb. 18. At a beautiful candle light ceremony all those lucky new pledges of Sigma Lambda National Honor Society were inducted to-night. It was a sight to behold even though all the pledges' knees were shaking outrageously.

Feb. 19. What a night to remember! That's right, it was the Civics Club Carnival. Ruling supreme for the evening was Queen Beverly McGilchrist, and a lovelier Queen would be impossible to find. The skits were all so funny I nearly split laughing, and the concessions in the gym were Super Deluxe. All in all, a successful evening.

March 2. Oh, woe is we girls. A Navy man spoke to all the senior boys to-day and now they're all just drooling to join the Navy. Now it isn't that we don't like a uniform (I should say NOT), but after all it will leave us awfully high and dry.

ANNUAL CALENDAR

March 3. Pep Club initiated their new members and what tortures they went through! I can't bear to tell you about it, but I wonder, is it worth it?

March 4. Umm—whata delicious daze I'm in. The 104th Cavalry Orchestra played for us to-day, and from now on Harry James is a thing of the past. Incidentally, did you notice the third from the left in the front row? And remember, I saw him first!

March 11-13. Tournament. Need I add anything more? It doesn't seem right that so many wonderful things should happen all at once.

March 19. "Superman!" That's right—and that's also Bland Simmons. The Pep Club girls have chosen him from among simply millions of other Salem High Muscle Men as their favorite for the title. He had a simply swish dance in his honor to-night, too.

April 2. Oh, that senior class, they're wonderful! They really held the most scrumptious dance and party to-night. Oh, but I'm tired. Wonder if it's the boys' fault or mine when I get trampled like this?

April 9. A. S. B. nomination speeches to-day. They were funny, too. You know, I think our dear old school is going to turn out some hammy politicians, anyway.

May 7. Last club day of the year. Goodness, it's sad to have to say so-long to all your pals. Especially when all the males are destined for military training, but quick.

May 21. We had an award assembly to-day and I'm still swooning over those handsome lettermen. Wonder if maybe it's the letter sweaters—gosh, what's a uniform going to do to them?

May 23. Baccalaureate. It's so sad to realize you're really leaving at last. (Confidentially, I didn't think I'd ever make it.)

May 28. Graduation exercises were to-night. It was lovely and hardly anyone tripped after those hours and hours (Oh, my feet) of practice. Of course, the tassels on the caps kept falling over your eyes, but you could always pretend to be Veronica Lake or a French Poodle.

May 29. The very climax of such a lovely year in spite of minor disasters. It was the Jr.-Sr. prom, and nothing could possibly have been more out of this world. The girls all looked super-lush dancing, and the boys (at least most of them) even succeeded in counting to themselves instead of muttering one, two, three, as per usual in that bull frog croak of theirs.

Well, for another school year I must close, but I'll always look back on this as being one of the most positively super-delish years of my life—as won't you?

ORGANIZATIONS

Selling war stamps, sponsoring a Victory Girl, collecting tin cans for the scrap drive—these are just a few of the things done by various clubs to help out and draw interest in the war. Through the projects of the organizations, many students who do not belong to clubs were able to help, making the war a living part of Salem High as a whole.

National Honor Society

Leadership, service, scholastic standing, and character are the basis upon which students are chosen for membership in the Sigma Lambda Chapter of the National Honor Society.

The group again held their annual Homecoming banquet, at which time more than one hundred grads returned to Salem High. Held December 23, the dinner had for its theme, "Where Are They and What Are They Doing?"

Members served as ushers for a convention of principals and for teachers' institute.

Officers of the group for the first semester were Wally Palmateer, president; Ann Huston, vice president; Lorraine Murdock, secretary; and Albert Costello, treasurer. For the second semester, Bill Burns was president; Elizabeth McGee, vice president; Pat DeSart, secretary; and Kate Griffith, treasurer.

The faculty advisory committee consisted of Miss Beryl Holt, chairman; Miss Lilian Davis; Miss Vivian Chandler; Miss Carmelita Barquist; and Mr. Frank Neer.

Snikpoh

Because of the war, Snikpoh Dramatic Society was unable to present its annual three-act play. However a one-act play was presented on Club Day, April 14, for the pleasure of the various clubs.

Officers for the year were Pat Leary, president; Norma Jean Newgent, vice president; Joan Remington, secretary; Jean Driggs, treasurer; Joy Randall, sergeant at arms; and Hugh Lovell, reporter. Club adviser is Miss Lelia Johnson.

Crescendo Club

Successful again this year is Crescendo Club, Salem High School's musical organization.

Our school is the only high school in the United States that sponsors a program such as the Crescendo Concert Series. This is the sixth year the club has presented it. Included on the program this year were Miriam Marmein, dancer; Delbert Anderson, singer; George Chavchavadze, pianist; and the Oregon State orchestra.

The annual initiation party was held at the beginning of school. An out of town excursion is usually made by the club, but due to transportation difficulties it was postponed this year.

Officers this year were Horace Beldin, president; Alice Rose, vice president; Pauline Miller, secretary; Jean Barham, treasurer; Thelma Smith, historian; Mary Ann Brady, program chairman; Rosemary Gaiser, concert manager; Wayne Struble, sergeant at arms; and Miss Lena Belle Tartar, adviser.

Civics Club

Although the annual Civics Club Carnival takes precedence over all other work done by this club, it is by no means the only project undertaken. At the first part of the year, club members made scrap books and game boards for wounded sailors in hospitals. Civics Club also sponsored the sale of war stamps for a week.

Forums, movies, and speeches by club members made up the programs.

Officers for the year were Bland Simmons, president; Jean Driggs, vice president; Beverly McGilchrist, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Gertrude Smith acted as adviser.

Que Dice

Enthusiasm was shown by the fifty-seven members of the Que Dice Speech Club this year. First event of the year was the initiation ceremony in the early fall. The regular meetings were devoted to outside speakers who placed in oratory contests.

Because of his transfer to Willamette Winser Acton was replaced as president for the second semester by Jim Purdy. Other officers were Lillian Oliver, vice president; Joan Nye, secretary; Margaret-Jane Emmons, treasurer; and Ellis Teel, sergeant at arms. Mr. R. M. Murphy was adviser.

Science Club

The Science Club, under the advisership of Miss June Philpott, has completed a very outstanding year. Starting with one of their famous initiations, the members continued to make news by winning several honors. Their greatest honor was taking first place for their skit in the Civics Club Carnival. Their candidate for Civics Club queen, Ruth Nelson, was chosen crown princess. Seven of the members took the Science Talent Search Examination in February, and Bob Biskie came out among the top two hundred in the United States.

Although the meetings were cut to a minimum this year, the members heard several interesting lectures, worked on various experiments, and were shown slides.

Heading the club were Ronald Jones, president; Pat Sears, vice president; Pat Schneider, secretary; and Bob Busick, treasurer.

Social Seience Club

The Social Science Club has ended another successful year under the guidance of Miss Mary Eyre. During the year they had numerous programs. Among these were movies dealing with the war effort, a trip to the legislature, and programs given by the members.

The outstanding civics idea of the club was the tin can drive which was held each Friday. Those on the committee were Joan Nye and Pat Fish.

The officers for the year were Jean Newman, president; Joan Nye, vice president; Nyla Phillips, secretary; Duke Mankertz, treasurer; and Bob Skopil, sergeant at arms.

Tri-Y

Tri-Y girls opened their active year with a party and a dance to promote membership. Their activities were many and varied. Ruth Barber, service chairman, was in charge of furnishing a day room at the Fairgrounds for the soldiers. At Thanksgiving and Christmas, baskets were made and distributed to the needy. The interest of one of the many meetings was heightened by the presence of Dean Buena Maris from Oregon State College.

The social high-point of the activities, planned by Betty Bruckman, social chairman, was the Valentine dance "Hearts and Flowers." The organization was fortunate in having the 104th cavalry band supply the music.

Officers of the year were Carmen Campbell, president; Virginia Glover, vice president; Helen Yung, secretary; Marie Ann Newman, treasurer. Acting as advisers were Mrs. Ellen Fisher, Miss Helen Spring, Mrs. Neil Brown, and Miss Jean Kendall. Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. was Mrs. Esther Little. Section leaders included Phyllis Nelson, Geraldine Nelson, Virginia Tomkins, and Mary Weller.

One hundred and eight boxes were sent to navy men who were in the hospital. The members sold Christmas Seals to aid the tuberculosis cause. Twelve large boxes of games, magazines, etc., were sent to camps in the Pacific Coast area. They sponsored the sale of defense stamps during the year and had a defense dance. They worked on several emergency projects and helped in the Salem office down town.

The officers for the year were Jane Walsh, president; Barbara Williams, vice president; Ruth Saffron, secretary; Virginia Raph, treasurer; Shirley Girod, reporter; Mrs. Ellen Fisher and Mrs. Claudine Elbert, advisers.

Girls' League

Nearly every girl in Salem High has been helped at one time or another by the Girls League Council. This busy club carries on an active program all year for the assistance of the girls in school. A few of their varied activities include the Big Sister Committee for the reception of new girls into the school; sponsoring of Print Week, an opportunity to show off new spring prints; and the Interclass Rivalry programs, talent shows put on by each of the three classes. The seniors won the contest this year with their excellent presentation of "Women in the War."

The Girls League was organized for all the girls in high school. Each girl is automatically a member as soon as she is enrolled in Salem High. There were only four meetings this year, as the league stepped aside to make way for other clubs.

Officers for the year were Janet Rogers, president; Lois Barrick, vice president; Florence Lewis, secretary; and Pat Meisinger, song leader. Miss Mabel Robertson is adviser.

National Athletic Honor Society

The National Athletic Honor Society has been somewhat handicapped this year due to the fact that it was impossible for them to have an assembly to take in their new members.

The officers for this year were Charles Whittemore, president; Courtney Jones, vice president; Louis Hough, secretary; Johnnie Crockatt, treasurer.

Stagecraft Guild

The students of Salem High may thank the boys in the Stagecraft Guild for the many colorful performances that highlight their school year. It is the work of this organization to prepare the auditorium and the stage for all programs, movies, or concerts that take place. They handle lighting arrangements, sound equipment, and projection work besides ushering at programs and arranging the stage.

One of the club's accomplishments was broadcasting the "Masterworks of Music" weekly over the Public Address System.

Mrs. Gertrude Shisler is the able adviser to this busy organization. Officers for the year were Frank Bennett, stage manager; Bill Burns, assistant stage manager; Bill Poorman and Ronald Jones, projection and public address system. Other officers are elected every six weeks.

German Club

The German Club started off the year with their annual initiation and banquet held here at the school. They had several entertaining meetings, at which they sang songs and played games.

The officers for the year were Calline Hillman, president; Nancy Montgomery, vice president; Emelia Weikum, secretary; Norman Dalke, treasurer; Dick Hill, sergeant at arms.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club is the newest to be added to the many clubs of Salem High. It is under the leadership of Miss Jenette Roberts.

French Club

The Cercle Francais was organized to bring the students of French into closer contact with France, its culture, and its people. Members of the French Club include students who are studying or have studied this language.

This year French students have sent Christmas packages to sailors abroad Free French ships in the Pacific ocean and have been writing letters in French to them during the year. They also have purchased war bonds.

The programs this year have included French songs, games, and plays; speakers from France; and talks by the members on French customs and present conditions in France.

Those who helped make the club successful this year were Elizabeth McGee, president; Lois Martin, vice president; Constance Lowe, secretary; Marilyn Nelson, treasurer; Pat Maurer, song leader; and Miss Mildred Christenson, club adviser.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club has completed a year of valuable community service. A few of their accomplishments were making cookies each week for the Salem U. S. O., making afghans and children's dresses for the Red Cross, sponsoring the furnishing of the day room at the Salem Air Base, and making hospital supplies for the Junior Red Cross.

Two of the main events of the year were the initiation party and the spring picnic. The girls also put on the Junior-Senior luncheon.

Several interesting speakers spoke to the club during their meetings.

Officers for the club were Landy Franz, president; Don Reiger, vice president; Stuart Compton, secretary; Jim Phillips, treasurer; and Bob Skopil, sergeant at arms. Mr. Herman Schwartzkopf was adviser.

Future Farmers

The members of the "Future Farmers" this year worked in a green house as well as doing the regular classroom work and taking field trips. Every boy started some plants and later set them out in his own victory garden on his farm. The club had 10,000 tomato plants, 5,000 lettuce, and 5,000 cabbage plants to sell to teachers or anyone interested. They also had 20 or 30 kinds of flowers.

Each junior and senior boy participated in a public speaking contest in January. Roger LeClerc was a winner. All classes also entered a parliamentary contest in Albany.

The Future Farmers entered a shooting gallery as a concession at the Civics Club Carnival.

The officers for 1942-43 were Larry Imlah, president; Keith Olson, vice president; Norman Alexander, secretary; Leonard Schmaltz, treasurer; Roger LeClerc, reporter; and Mr. Neal Craig, adviser.

Future Craftsmen

The Machine Shop, the Auto Shop, and the Wood Shop divisions of the Future Craftsmen, under the advisership of Mr. C. C. Goff, have completed a very instructive year. In addition to their regular class work they received training in public speaking.

The activities carried on by the boys of the Machine Shop included defense work, training in machines for war work, and outside jobs. The boys also took field trips to nearby factories to watch the methods of handling machinery there.

Members of the Auto Shop repaired cars and all other types of machinery which were brought into the shop. The boys also had several airplane motors to work on.

The boys in the Wood Shop were engaged in projects for the school. They not only made new things but also repaired all damaged or broken furniture in the school.

Officers for the Machine Shop this year were Armon McDowell, president; John Wehrli, vice president; Bob Dickson, secretary; Morris Hunsaker, treasurer; and Colmar Bjerke, sergeant at arms.

Officiating for the Auto Shop were Robert Judson, president; Lester Purcell, vice president; Charles Baker, secretary and treasurer; and Utah Smith, sergeant at arms.

At the head of the Wood Shop were Batsel Freeman, president; Doyle Lockard, vice president; Dean Macy, secretary; Dick Miller, treasurer; and Leroy Vogl, sergeant at arms.

Radio Club

Learning how to obtain third class radio-telephone licenses and listening to and discussing the radio were the main projects of the Radio Club this year.

Serving as officers of the club were Garth Stonehocker, president; Laurence Garson, secretary; and Merle Harnsberger, sergeant at arms. Mr. George Brant served as treasurer and faculty adviser.

Apprentices of Future Craftsmen

The purpose of the Apprenticeship Club is to take up problems of industry, such as First Aid and prevention of accidents and to train students to be prepared for trades after graduation from high school.

At the meetings the members discuss industrial problems. The State Labor Commissioner, the State Safety Commission, and the State Apprenticeship Commission are invited to help the boys solve various problems. The club holds an annual dinner with the Apprenticeship Commission, during which special problems of the students actually on jobs are worked out.

The officers of Apprentices of Future Craftsmen this year were Robert White, superintendent; Merle Combs, foreman; Clarence Cherry, time keeper; and James Brazi, gatekeeper. Mr. George E. Brant acted as consultant to the club.

SPORTS

Rationing, priorities, loss of coaches and athletes — the sports department has definitely been hit by the war. No matter what the outcome of the games, we can all say proudly that this department really symbolizes the spirit of "Salem High and the war."

Yell Leaders

Led on by the vivacity of song queen Shirley Parker and the vociferous vocal exertions of yell king Bob Skopil, Viking fandom cheeringly boosted Vik Villa athletes. Assisted by attractive Joy Randall, the yell team drew the attention of all by their capable and spirited leadership.

Viking pep reached an unequaled level when a thousand yelling students flung away schoolbooks and joined hands to form a winding serpentine over four blocks in length. The demonstration, under the direction of the cheer leaders, was staged before the annual Astoria-Salem basketball series and terminated at the Victory Center, after having halted down-town traffic.

Pep Club

Transportation problems failed to dampen the spirits of the enthusiastic Pep Club girls. Unable to attend away-from-home games, the girls doubled their vocal volume at the local competitions. Cooperating further by selling tickets and publicizing sports events, the club did much to arouse interest in Salem athletics.

Highlight of the Pep Club social calendar was the Superman Dance of March nineteenth when members named Bland Simmons as the Superman of Salem High.

Officers elected for the year were Shirley Parker, president; Joy Randall, vice president; Lois Barrick, secretary; Kate Griffith, treasurer; Lizbeth Kennedy and Ruth Jones, sergeants at arms; Sally Ann Barr, reporter; and Della Merk, card chairman.

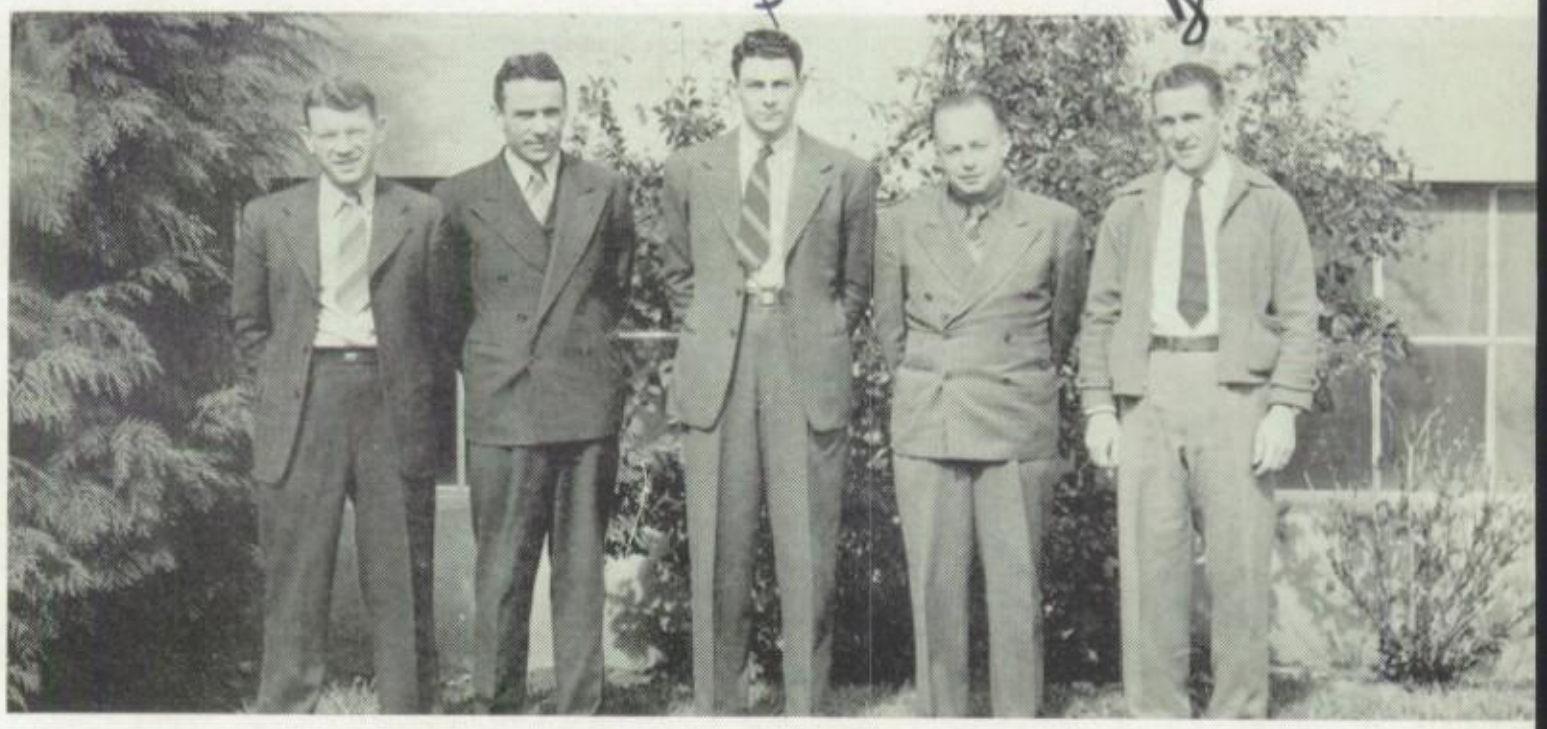
S Club

Again this year the well-known "S" Club is crowded with vigorous, healthy men of tomorrow. The members are especially noted for their vim and vitality used to keep up the morale of the school and to replenish the fame of Salem High.

These athletic heroes may be seen surrounded by a group of admiring femmes almost any hour of school. Their presence is especially noticeable in the assemblies. Members may be located in the first four rows displaying their charms and adding witty remarks to the assemblies.

Curtis Ruecker occupied the presidency, and Louie Hough combined secretarial duties with those of treasurer.

The outstanding event of the Club's activity program was the annual "S" Club dance held the first night of the state basketball tournament. The music was furnished by a band from Albany.



Coaches

Due to the war the year 1942-43 brought new faces to our coaching staff. To many the faces were not altogether "new" as three of them—Flesher, Drynan, and Brown—are up from the junior high schools.

In the new war time line up, Gurnee Flesher very capably took over as director of athletics, while other instructors were as follows: Tom Drynan, head of football and track, Frank Beer who did such a good job of heading the Jayvees, Frank Brown our "lend lease" coach from Parrish, and last but not least Herman "Do-four-laps-around-the-track-boys" Schwartzkopf, physical education director.

Much credit is due these men, who under the most adverse conditions, produced teams of the Salem High caliber.

Football

In the most consistent season in history, our Vikings bagged for themselves an absolute blank in the victory column and absorbed nine defeats.

Opening the season with three lettermen, a handful of Jayvees with experience, and a limited number of boys with intramural and junior high campaigning, Mentor Tom Drynan spent a goodly part of the season drilling on the fundamentals of the game. This process took a complete season. Perhaps next year the Salem rooters will be treated to the hard-hitting, point-crazy, razzle-dazzle teams of the old days.

Losses were sustained at the hands of Oregon City, 27-21; Albany, 13-6; Corvallis, 33-7; Astoria, 27-8; Bend, 13-6; Milwaukie, 7-6; Eugene, 7-0; Medford, 26-13; and Everett, 40-0.

High hopes are held for the next year's squad with seventeen lettermen, including fullback Bob Warren of the No-Name All-Star team, returning.

Those awarded letters were Bob Tomkins, Ernie Miller, Ota Binegar, Earl Strausbaugh, Louis Hough, Gordy McMorris, Bill Ransom, and Manager Fritz Anunsen, all seniors, and Jim Wenger, Ed Brandle, Jerry Langan, Bill Barlow, Dan Bisbee, Jack Slater, Eldon Farlow, Don Wilson, Howard Elwood, David Getzendaner, Eugene Lowe, Glen Widdows, Bruce Hamilton, Owen Garland, Bob Warren, Les Purcell, and John Wehrli.

Intramural Football

"A" LEAGUE

Basketball

In a season that will long be remembered for its sessions of ups and downs, the Salem High Vikings managed to come out on top in 11 out of 21 games for a won-lost percentage of .524. Four lettermen and three varsity reserves from last year's high geared squad formed a nucleus for 1943, but a serious loss was sustained when Guard Wally Gemmell went into the armed forces before the start of the season. The Red and Black were under the tutorship of a new coach, Frank Brown, who here-to-fore was the mastermind of the Parrish Junior High quintet.

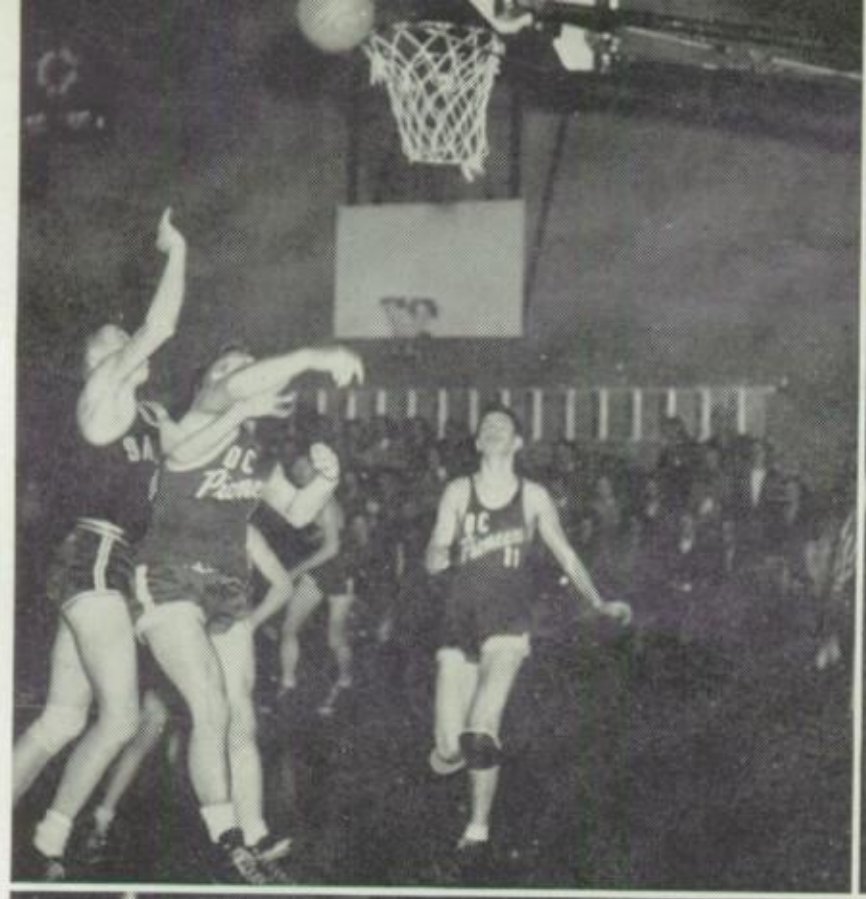
During the course of the year the personnel of the team changed often and included the following boys: Travis Cross, Marty Svarverud, Bill Ransom, Bob Zeller, Chuck Whittemore, John Johnson, Dick Corbett, Loren Helmhout, Courtney Jones, Allan Bellinger, Bruce Hamilton, John Dowd, Don Chapman, Gordy McMorris, Eldon Farlow, Eugene Lowe, Owen Garland, Louie Hough, and Bob Mentzer.

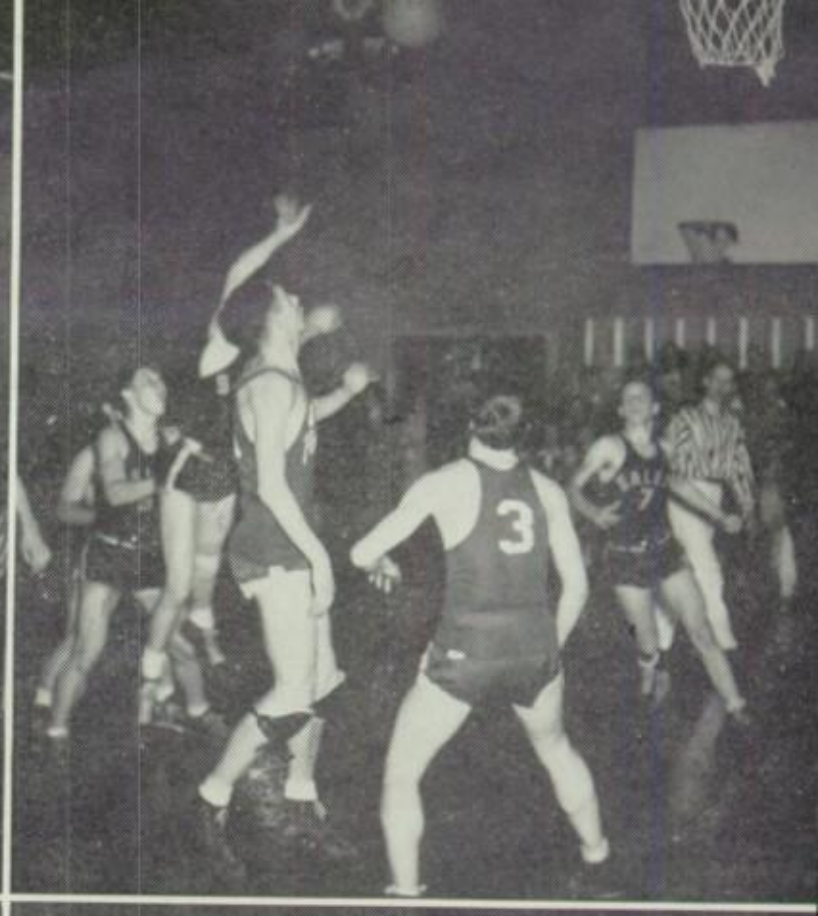
The high spots of the season included a four game winning streak at the opening of the season and an impressive 40-35 victory over a strong quintet from The Dalles. The lowest depths were reached as during the course of the campaign five games (four during the regular season, one in the tournament) were dropped to a strong squad from Astoria.

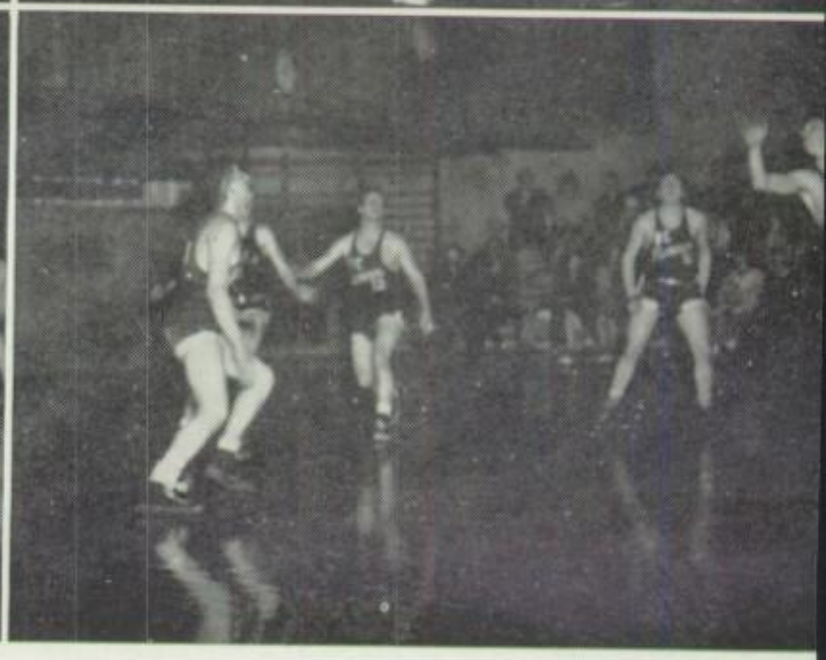
The Vikings entered the state tournament because of their annual distinction as host team and in the opening game were paired against the favorite, Astoria. The encounter was dropped to the tune of 32-35, and the consolation tilt on the following day was lost to a slick passing outfit from St. Helens, 44-27.

Marty Svarverud was the individual high scorer during the course of the season with 189 points. Gordy McMorris tallied 102, while Travis Cross garnered 98.

Seniors Svarverud, Ransom, Jones, McMorris, and Hough will be missed on next year's squad, but the return of five lettermen and three varsity reserves indicates a bright future.







Jayvee Basketball

The Frank Beer coached Jayvee hoop squad rolled up and down throughout the season to compile a win-lose record that was even. Considerable talent was uncovered for use on the "A" team next year.

Intramural Basketball

"A" LEAGUE

Paced by the league's high scorer, "Stu" Compton, Dave Getzandaner's smooth playing five copped the intramural basketball crown by making a clean sweep of all opposition.

The championship team consisted of "Stu" Compton and Bud Carver, forwards; Eugene Hilfiker, center; Bob Thompson and Dave Getzandaner, guards; and Reno Young, John Wehrli, George Gottfried, and Dick Hill, utility players.

Track

Although only five lettermen returned from last year's track team, this sport was entered into enthusiastically by some forty-odd boys.

The "cinder squad" participated in meets at Beaverton, Chemawa, Oregon City, Eugene, and two in Salem—No-Name and District 7.

Boys out for track were Richard Taw, David Getzandaner, Jim Shawver, Richard Gatke, Clair Priem, Bennie Lambert, John Wehrli, Owen Garland, Jerry Langan, Pete Olson, Bill Robbins, Ken DeHut, Bill Lang, Andrew Zahara, Duke Mankertz, Bruce Hamilton, Art Gottfried, Art Parkes, Warren Brown, Bob Macy, Ronald Dickey, Bob Perwein, Bob Warren, Norman Dalke, David Bales, Joe Formick, Wilford Beard, Tom Shipler, Lloyd Merk, Jack Larsen, Frank Nist, Ernest Miller, Lyle Parke, Bob Hinkle, Utah Smith, Ray Tompkins, John Dowd, Loren Dunham, Jim Arnett, Claire Woodcock, Norman Lawson, Deb McLaughlin.

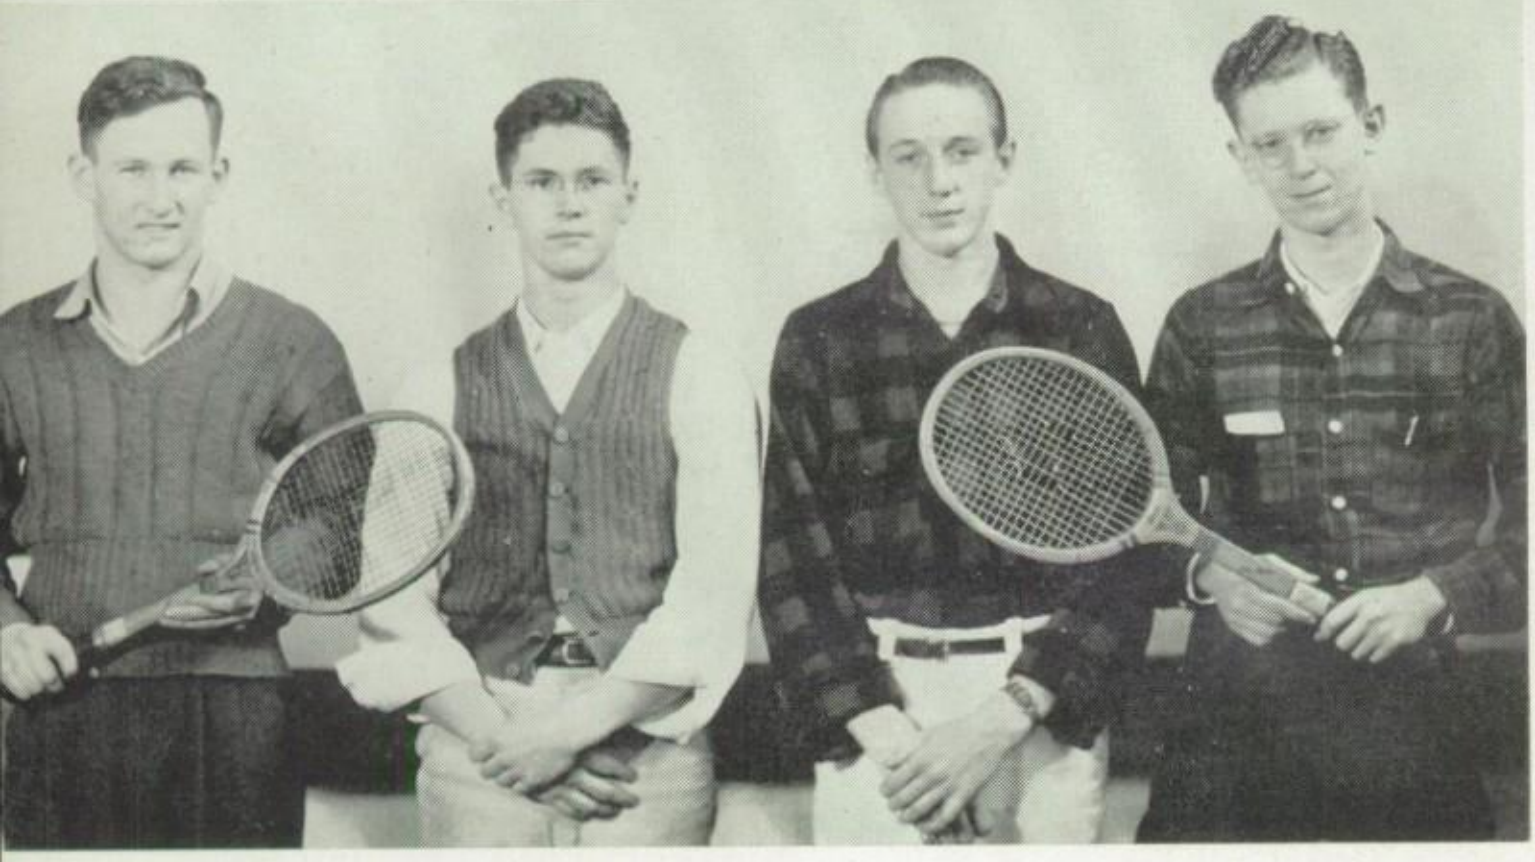
Victory Corps

Salem High's "Commando" Course has turned out to be a real "Toughie," as witnessed by skinned knees, elbows, arms, etc.

After jumping over six low hurdles the Salem High School hero plunges into the dirt and dog walks through a serpentine tunnel, then crawls under a rail, jumps over a four foot wall, crawls under another rail, and is ready to try his luck balance walking on an inch wide rail. Next he climbs up a ladder, and if still able to walk squirms under a rail, climbs up an incline, jumps off, and then attempts to vault an obstacle three feet high and three feet wide. After picking the splinters out of his leg, he stumbles through the maze and braces himself for the final test, the eight foot wall. After doing this, our hero can go off in some quiet corner and die in peace.

Physical Fitness Program

"1-2-3-4, 1-2-3-4. Up-down. Up-down." These sounds, amid groans, echoing down Salem High's hall remind us of the physical fitness program carried on the latter part of this year to toughen up Salem High's "males" for the army. This program consisted of various exercises meant to build up the body. At the beginning of the course tests were taken and recorded, and then after four months of intensive training these tests were taken again to see how much the students had advanced.



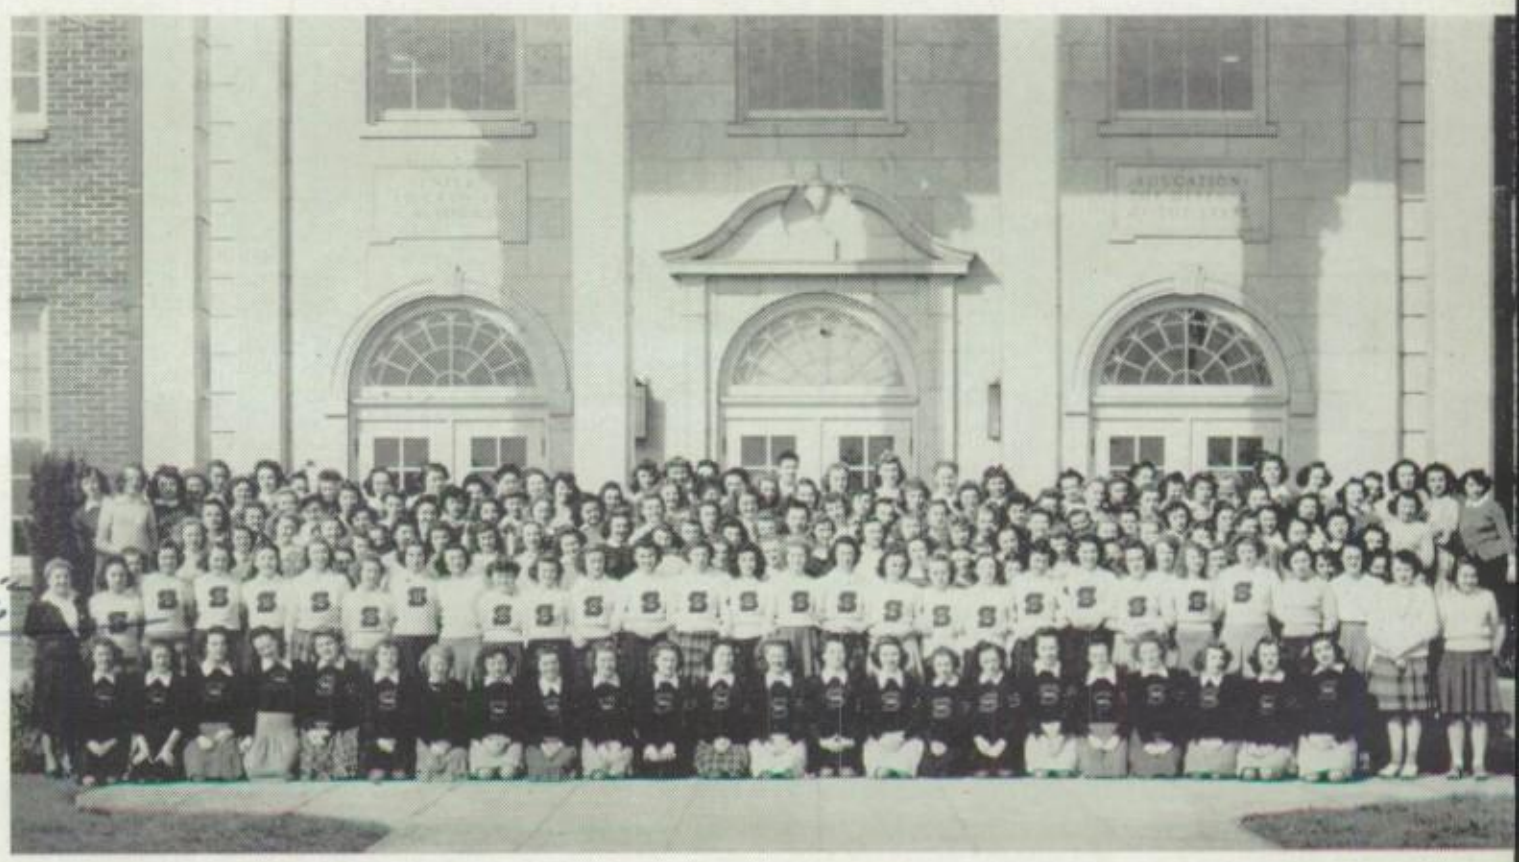
Golf

This year's golf team, coached by Mr. Duane Mellem, consisted of one letterman, Jim Sheldon, and three newcomers with experience: Louis Hough, "Bunny" Mason, and "Stu" Compton.

Tennis

This year's team, consisting of four returning lettermen, met all expectations of its caoch, Mr. Herman Schwartzkopf, and turned in some fine performances.

The four "Racket Busters" were John Crockatt, Jerry Williams, Bill Ransom, and Wally Palmateer.



Girls' Letter Club

This year marked the twentieth anniversary of the Girls Letter Club. Always an active organization, the club passed this milestone with a year of outstanding activity for the war effort. When an appeal for volunteer ration-board assistants was voiced, members willingly devoted time and service to the task. Another successful project was the sponsoring of the Victory Girl contest, in which three thousand dollars' worth of war stamps and bonds were sold in five days. Climaxing the year's activities was the annual Jym Jamboree of May 7, which carried out a theme of Physical Fitness through Physical Education. In charge of the event were Janet Rogers, chairman; Lois Barrick, assistant chairman; Marybeth Vincent, wardrobe mistress; Faye Plenge, assistant wardrobe mistress; Jean Rowland, reporter; and Rosemary Gaiser, musician.

Officers for the year were Helen Calkin, president; Pat Leary, vice president; Della Merk, second vice president; Kate Griffith, secretary; Lucile Wilson, treasurer; Lois Martin and Emily Turner, sergeants at arms; and Shirley Parker, song and yell queen.

Advisers for the organization were Mrs. Edith Serell, Miss Helen Spring, and Mrs. Grace Wolgamott. This is Mrs. Wolgamott's twentieth year as adviser to the club.

Coaches

Heading the Girls Physical Education Department is Mrs. Grace Wolgamott, adviser to the Girls Letter Club for twenty years. Miss Helen Spring conducted classes for the junior girls, and Mrs. Edith Serell directed the sophomore groups.

Heads of Sports

Girls' sports had an enthusiastic following with girls participating in both noon and after-school intramural leagues. Volleyball, softball, basketball, ring hockey, and speedball ranked high among the varied sports, heated battles being waged for honors and for the all-school championship.

The following girls were in charge of sports: Gwelda Thatcher, aerial darts; Pat Noble, archery; Mary Parker, badminton; Sarah Craven, basketball; Kathleen Hug, baseball; Shirley Hill, bicycling; Ruth Jones, bowling; Mary Ana Bollinger, golf; Marjorie Peterson, hiking; Margaret Smith, horseback riding; Pat Viesko, ping pong; Georgia Moore, play days; Lois Gillings, play day assistant; Barbara Kent, ring hockey; Calline Hillman, ice-skating; Iwana Griffin, roller-skating; Dolores Brown, soccer; Evelyn Meyers, speedball; Janet Halik, swimming; Pat Schneider, tennis; Betty Pierce, tumbling; and Delores Dougherty, volleyball.

Senior Girls All Stars

Elected by fellow basketball aspirants to a position on the senior girls' all-star basketball squad were Kate Griffith, captain; Pat Leary, Della Merk, Janet Rogers, Gwelda Thatcher, Lucile Wilson, Dolores Brown, Ruth Jones, and Helen Calkin.

Showing exceptional dexterity in the skills of volleyball, the following girls were selected as the all-star volleyball team: Helen Calkin, captain; Ruth Jones, Shirley Parker, Janet Rogers, Pat Leary, Della Merk, Kate Griffith, Lucile Wilson, Gwelda Thatcher, and Lois Barrick.

Junior All Stars

By defeating the senior and sophomore all-star volleyball teams, the junior girls captured the all-school volleyball crown. The following girls composed the junior all-star squad: Evelyn Meyers, captain; Sarah Craven, Barbara Kent, Betty Jean Korb, Faye Plenge, Pat Schneider, Barbara Weddle, Beatrice Smith, Delores Dougherty, and Martha Weller.

Making up the junior all-star basketball team were Sarah Craven, captain; Delores Dougherty, Estella Douglas, Kathleen Hug, Betty Korb, Delores Lawrence, Evelyn Meyers, Faye Plenge, and Beatrice Smith.
